2014-2015 School Awards Contest
College ADVANCED Examination

Write a neat and legible translation of the passage (Florus II.xxx.32-39) below. Translate as literally as possible without violating English idiom. This page may be marked as you wish, but only translations written on the “CAMWS College Latin Translation Contest 2014-2015” pages will be judged.

Time Limit: 1 (one) hour

Before you start, read through the Latin several times in order to comprehend the general sense. Use the context for help with unfamiliar words. Informed guesses are encouraged; there is no penalty for an incorrect conjecture, but no credit can be given for omissions.

The Battle of the Teutoburg Forest

1 At illi, qui iam pridem robigine obsitos enses inertesque maererent equos,
2 ut primum togas et saeviora armis iura viderunt, duce Armenio arma corripunt;
3 cum interim tanta erat Varo pacis fiducia, ut ne proditā quidem per Segesten unum
4 principum coniuratione commoveretur. Itaque improvidum et nihil tale metuentem
5 ex improviso adorti, cum ille—o securitas!—ad tribunal citaret, undique invadunt;
6 castra rapiuntur, tres legiones opprimuntur.
7 Varus perditas res eodem quo Cannensem diem Paulus et fato est animo secutus.
8 Nihil illā caede per paludes perque silvas cruentius, nihil insultatione barbarum
9 intolerabilius, praecipue tamen in causarum patronos.
10 Aliis oculos, aliis manūs amputabant, uni os sutum, recisā prius linguā,
11 quam in manū tenens barbarus “Tandem” ait, “vipera, sibilare desisti.”
12 Ipsius quoque consulis corpus, quod militum pietas humi abdiderat, effossum.
13 Signa et aquilas duas adhuc barbari possident, tertiam signifer, priusquam
14 in manūs hostium veniret, evulsit mersamque intra baltei sui latebras gerens
15 in cruentā palude sic latuit. Hāc clade factum, ut imperium,
16 quod in litore Oceani non steterat, in ripā Rheni fluminis staret.
