

Call for Papers

Illinois Classical Conference
AMICI, Classical Association of Iowa
Joint Meeting
October 2-4, 2015
Monmouth College

The Illinois Classical Conference and AMICI, the Classical Association of Iowa, seek proposals for a joint conference, to be held at Monmouth College from October 2-4, 2015. There is no set theme: we would like to maintain variety both in level and in topic. We encourage presenters to meet the high standard of quality we have seen in the past by offering presentations which are engaging, enlightening, and focused. Speakers have been from all backgrounds (educators, non-educators, Classics enthusiasts, students) and from all levels (kindergarten through university). Our annual meetings exhibit our states' profound commitment to the Classics by offering a wide variety of topics.

Proposals are being accepted in two formats:

- Paper: traditional talk, 15-20 minutes
- Workshop: interactive presentation, 30-40 minutes

The membership of the Illinois Classical Conference and AMICI features a dedicated mix of elementary, secondary, and post-secondary educators who are interested in a wide variety of topics related to ancient Greek and Latin literature, as well as Greco-Roman history, culture, archaeology, mythology, and pedagogy. The ICC draws its membership from 8 elementary school programs, 15 middle school programs, 79 high school Latin programs, and 23 colleges and universities that offer Classics programs. The ICC also assists in the development of an MAT program in Latin at University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign. In addition to promoting the Classics at all levels in Iowa, AMICI members frequently participate in the Illinois Junior Classical League annual conventions.
